Pachyderms to pack bags

Zoo's management board votes 5-2 in favour of moving elephants Toka, Thika and Iringa to another facility
Recent report says keeping them would cost city $16.5M Ex-TV host Bob Barker offers to help pay for move

The Toronto Zoo has decided it's time to find new homes for its three elephants.

The move comes after pressure from animal rights activists — including former game show host Bob Barker — who argued that Canada's cold climate wasn't suitable for elephants and they should be sent to sanctuaries in the southern United States.

The decision doesn't ensure that the elephants will go to warmer climates, only that they will be sent to facilities accredited by the Association of Zoos and Aquariums.

"Our elephants are wonderful, they're beautiful, they're old," said Coun. Glenn De Baeremaeker, a member of the board who wants to see the animals moved to a warmer climate. "They get cold during January. They should be retired somewhere where it's sunny and warm."

The board spent the day hearing submissions on whether to spend millions on a new elephant facility or relocate the animals.

G20 'jester' acquitted of carrying Molotov cocktail

Lawyer stresses there was no link between man's complaint of police assault, decision to end prosecution

Nicholas Lamb wore an orange and black jester's hat to the Toronto G20 protests last year as a satirical symbol of dissent.

Never did the Carleton University student dream that police would refer to him as "the jester" as they hunted for him among demonstrators last June 26.

He was arrested and, he alleges, beaten by a police officer, initially on suspicion of torching one of the police cruisers set ablaze in downtown Toronto.

He was charged with five counts, though not with burning a cruiser, and held in detention until granted bail June 28.

By the time the 25-year-old's trial began Tuesday he was facing two remaining counts: Possessing and carrying a Molotov cocktail.

But after hearing two days' evidence, provincial court Justice Geraldine Sparrow acquitted him Thursday at the urging of prosecutor Stephen Byrne.

"I think I was targeted because I was so noticeable. I was a threat to (police), I was a risk, just by the way I looked."
NICHOLAS LAMB, WHO IS SIX-FOOT-FOUR

Byrne explained that though undercover officers near Spadina Avenue and Richmond Street thought they saw Lamb and another man making Molotov cocktails by filling glass juice bottles with a liquid, they could not definitely identify the liquid.

The defence maintained it was vinegar Lamb and his friend were using to soak bandannas to protect themselves from tear gas.

Although several officers thought they smelled gasoline, "I think any inference I would ask your honour to draw would not be capable of sustaining any conviction," Byrne said. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

TTC takes a pass on Moses' biblical bits

A poster considered by some to be too racy and irreverent for the TTC is turning out to be a hit with film fans.

Organizers of the 19th annual Toronto Jewish Film Festival are weighing whether to auction off the posters at this year's final screening Sunday, Leonard Cohen: Live In London.

The promotion piece, part of a biblical-themed ad campaign, depicts a Moses-like character sitting in a limo, legs splayed à la Britney Spears. A pixilated screen hides what the man's robes apparently don't cover.

Intended as stereotype-busting humour, the ad nevertheless raised eyebrows at the TTC's advertising agency. It asked the festival's agency, which donates its work, if there was another way to cover up Moses.

"We wanted to see if they would be prepared to do that before we made any decision. If they said no, that doesn't mean we would have rejected it," said TTC spokesman Brad Ross.

But in the absence of a response, the ads never appeared.

Agency officials didn't return calls to the Toronto Star Thursday.

However, the poster does appear on the tjff.com/ festival website.

Festival executive director Helen Zukerman said she was told the city or TTC had rejected the posters.

As a veteran of controversial campaigns, she wasn't surprised or upset.

"When people complain, we figure we're doing our job," Zukerman said.

▶ Jennifer Wu

In happier times, Sau San (Jennifer) Wu loved getting her picture in the newspaper, posing with a cellphone at her ear and a coy smile on her face in ads for her former Richmond Hill real estate business.

Now, Wu is heading to prison after getting her photo in a newspaper one time too many.

York Regional Police Det. Dave Noseworthy spotted her face in the background of a photo in an online Romanian newspaper earlier this year, five years after Wu fled the country — and charges of helping run the largest indoor residential marijuana grow-operation in Canadian history.

"I thought 'Wow!,'" Noseworthy said in an interview. "I knew her right away."

Wu, 46, faced those charges in a Newmarket court Thursday, where she was sentenced to six and a half years in prison by Justice Michael Brown. She pleaded guilty to an assortment of charges for marijuana cultivation, tax evasion, utilities fraud, money laundering and violating court-ordered bail conditions. She was also given a year to pay $97,647.79 in back income taxes.

The sentence was jointly requested by defence lawyer Gary Clewley and federal prosecutor Lisa Mathews.

Figuring out if Ford firm a campaign 'supplier' or donor

Was Mayor Rob Ford's family holding company a "supplier" of event venues and staff for his mayoral campaign, or the supplier of hefty — and possibly illegal — payments?

That will be one of the questions facing a city committee Friday morning with the touchy task of deciding whether to launch an audit of Ford's campaign finances, to see if he complied with election financing rules.

If the three citizen appointees trigger an audit that finds deliberate breaches of city and provincial law, Ford could face anything from a fine to — unlikely and unthinkable, but not impossible — removal from office.

The nub of audit requests from Toronto citizens Ted Ho and the team of Max Reed and Adam Chaleff-Freudenthaler is $77,722.31 that Doug Ford Holdings Inc. paid and invoiced the Rob Ford campaign.

The complainants say that if the money was a loan, Ford probably contravened a provincial law that says campaigns may borrow from banks and other recognized lending institutions, with no mention of private companies. If it was a donation, even in the form of an interest-free loan, it contravenes a city ban on corporate campaign donations.

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

▶ Mayor Rob Ford

Ford's lawyer, Tom Barlow, has fired back with a detailed written response that says the holding company, parent to the family label-making firm, was a "vendor/supplier" to the campaign.

The company "did not provide a loan to the campaign. DFH was a supplier to the campaign and was paid like other suppliers to the campaign from the campaign's account," Barlow wrote.

As a vendor-supplier, the company "delivered goods and services through its subsidiary, Deco Label and Tags, or subcontracted for goods and services from other vendors. In every instance, all goods and services rendered by DFH have been paid from the campaign's account."

Seven take Walk of Fame

Scarborough honours residents' contributions in sports, arts, entertainment, health, education and community

Seven people have been inducted into the fifth annual Scarborough Walk of Fame. The inductees are:

Peter Appleyard, musician

The jazz vibraphonist, percussionist and composer came from Britain in the early 1960s and lived in a Kingsbury Crescent home near the edge of the Scarborough Bluffs for about 30 years. Later, his love of horses and wide-open spaces led him to buy a Milton-area farm, where he still resides. His favourite Scarborough spot is the Bluffs "because they're so spectacular."

Lawrence Gowan, singer/songwriter

Gowan still calls Scarborough home. "It's where I grew up. My mum worked at Cedarbrae library. Most of my adventures were on the Scarborough Bluffs, and a lot of them still are."

Jay Hope, deputy minister of correctional services

Hope grew up on Chillery Avenue near Brimley Road and Eglinton Avenue East. He remembers having his first swimming lessons in a neighbour's backyard pool and recalls "a lot of happy memories of living in Scarborough. The only bad thing that ever happened to me in Scarborough was having my bike stolen, but as my mom says it was only because I didn't lock it up."

Dr. Vicki Bismilla, educator

Bismilla has lived in the McCowan Road area near the Scarborough Town Centre "in the same house we bought in 1972." Bismilla spent four decades teaching in Scarborough. "The (school) board is wonderful and the students are magnificent. Scarborough is the best-kept secret in the GTA. It's a great place to be."

Dr. Dhun Noria, physician, philanthropist

A longtime resident of North York, Noria says she has big spot in her heart for Scarborough and the hospital community she has served in the Birchmount Road and Finch Avenue East area. "I have a very deep affiliation with Scarborough and the most memorable area for me is around Scarborough Grace Hospital."

Dr. Harold Stein, eye surgeon

Niagara Falls is where Stein grew up, but after medical school he came to practise at Scarborough General Hospital and stayed there until he retired. Stein says he held the record for being the longest elected chief of ophthalmology in North America, for 35 years. "A lot of what is Scarborough today was mostly farmland when I came to the hospital."

Ron Watson, former Scarborough councillor

Many people call long-serving Scarborough councillor Ron Watson the "mayor of Agincourt," and that's where he still resides. Originally from east-end Toronto, he "moved to Scarborough after getting married and (we) spent our honeymoon at the Bluffs. The Bluffs is where I like to draw pictures and it's still our favourite spot."

Gretzky's birthplace, Telephone City and ... first Canadian city to ban shark fins?

Sleepy Brantford will surf to the edge of the sustainability debate next week as its city council debates enacting a bylaw to prohibit the possession, sale and consumption of all shark fin products, the first ban of its kind in the country.

"We've moved on it. Why don't you do the same?" is the message to other Canadian cities, says former Brantford MPP Phil Gillies, who helped put the issue on council's agenda.

Shark fin soup is considered a delicacy in China and in expatriate communities worldwide, and demand for the dish is increasing as the Chinese population grows wealthier. But the practice of shark finning has long drawn the outrage of environmental groups for being unsustainable and cruel.

Overfishing has led to a decline of all shark species in the Northwest Atlantic since the late 1980s, according to a 2003 report in Science, with some species dropping by as much as 75 per cent. Sharks have a low birth rate, leaving them particularly vulnerable to overfishing.

Canadians face cannon fire, fend off Libyan forces

Canadian warship forces Gadhafi soldiers to abandon attack at sea Responded with machine-gun fire

A Canadian warship has helped fend off an attack by Libyan forces on the port city of Misrata despite coming under fire itself.

A statement from NATO says the frigate HMCS Charlottetown was conducting patrols with other allied vessels when a number of fast small boats launched an attack.

The statement says the Charlottetown acted with a British destroyer and was supported by a French warship as it forced the boats to abandon their attack.

The frigate came under fire during the incident in what NATO describes as artillery and anti-aircraft cannon fire from regime forces ashore.

The Charlottetown responded with a short burst of machine-gun fire of its own.

None of the allied warships suffered any damage or injury in the incident that occurred around 2 a.m. local time Thursday.

Harper is frozen on Arctic action: WikiLeaks

A new WikiLeaks cable suggests the U.S. government views Stephen Harper's talk about Canadian Arctic sovereignty as little more than empty chest-thumping designed to win votes.

In a diplomatic cable posted this week by the online whistleblower, the U.S. Embassy in Ottawa says the Tories have made successful political use of promises to beef up Canada's presence in the Arctic.

But it says the Harper government has done only scant implementation on pledges like increasing surveillance over the Northwest Passage and purchasing armed icebreakers.

There's no time to cry

Manitobans shore up homes

It was a race against time Thursday at flood-hit Hoop and Holler Bend in Manitoba.

Residents and soldiers were using every extra minute to pile sandbags around houses that could be swamped by a controlled release of water intended to avoid a deluge further downstream on the Assiniboine River.

Reservists were shoring up inflatable barriers around Lucy Kinnear's home as she packed up last-minute belongings.

"This piece of land is supposed to be high and dry," said the mother of two-year-old twins.

Kinnear said she hadn't had time to cry or feel bitter since she found out her home is in the area of a deliberate flood spill.

"All we can do is get things out of the basement, make arrangements for our boys, our pets and ourselves."

Dam-busters

- The plan: Manitoba says a controlled release of water would flood up to 225 square kilometres and could affect at least 150 homes.
- The tradeoff: Without the controlled release, it's feared 500 square kilometres and 850 homes would be swamped if levees fail under pressure from the rushing river.

Obama approval soars

U.S. President Barack Obama's approval rating has hit its highest point in two years, 60 per cent, and more than half of Americans say he deserves re-election, according to an Associated Press-GfK poll taken after U.S. forces killed al-Qaida leader Osama bin Laden.

In worrisome signs for Republicans, the president's standing improved not just on foreign policy but also on the economy.

Comfortable majorities of the public now call Obama a strong leader who will keep America safe. Nearly three-fourths — 73 per cent — also say they are confident Obama can handle terrorist threats effectively. He also has improved his standing on Afghanistan, Iraq and the United States' relationships with other countries.

Despite a sluggish recovery from the recession, 52 per cent approve of Obama's stewardship of the economy, giving him his best rating on that issue since the early days of his presidency; 52 per cent also like how he is handling the nation's stubbornly high nine per cent unemployment.

Impressions of the nation's economic health have improved after last Friday's jobs report, which showed U.S. companies are on a hiring spree. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

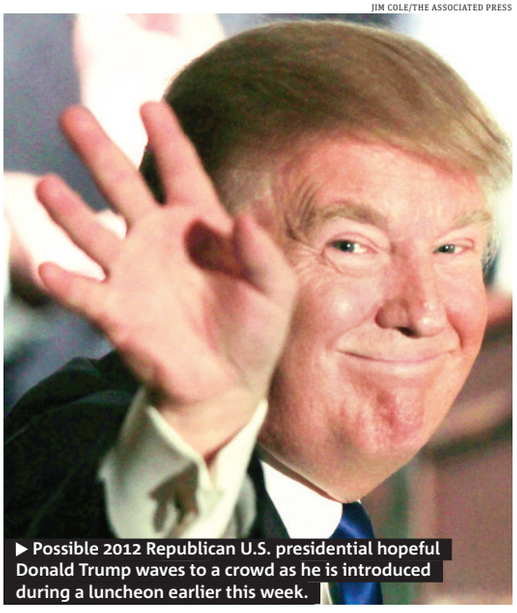
Trump's popularity getting trumped: Poll

JIM COLE/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS



▶ Possible 2012 Republican U.S. presidential hopeful Donald Trump waves to a crowd as he is introduced during a luncheon earlier this week.

Billionaire loses cred over foreign policy ideas, same-sex views

Just a few weeks ago, Donald Trump was leading the field of potential Republican presidential candidates in public opinion polls.

Now, the outspoken billionaire is sinking to the bottom of the pack, mocked for everything from his outrageous hairstyle to his embrace of a fringe group who believe U.S. President Barack Obama is not American born.

"Donald Trump had a meteoric rise to the top of the GOP presidential field and has fallen back down just as quickly," Dean Debnam, president of Public Policy Polling, said after releasing a survey showing Trump's slide to a tie for fifth place from first.

The real estate mogul has been taunted for his simplistic foreign policy ideas and opposition to same-sex marriage. On Libya, Trump said, "I would go in, I would take the oil and stop this baby stuff." Meanwhile, to the New York Times he compared same-sex marriage to golf putter preferences.

"It's like in golf," Trump told the paper. "A lot of people are switching to these really long putters. Very unattractive. It's weird ... I hate it. I am a traditionalist. I have so many fabulous friends who happen to be gay, but I am a traditionalist." THE CANADIAN PRESS

One of bin Laden's wives wanted to be 'martyred'

Family of Yemeni bride only saw their daughter once — during a month-long visit to Afghanistan

Osama bin Laden once gave his wives the option of leaving Afghanistan, but his young Yemeni bride was determined to stay and be "martyred" alongside him.

The pledge early in her marriage to the terror leader, recounted by her family, reflected the determination of Amal Ahmed Abdel-Fatah al-Sada, 29, to rise above her divorced mother's social standing.

It came, they said, before the Sept. 11, 2001, attacks.

The cousin recalled bin Laden telling his two wives — the other one at the time was from Syria — that they could either stay with him in Afghanistan or return to their home countries.

He said Amal al-Sada quickly put the matter to rest. "I want to be martyred with you and I won't leave as long as you're alive," he recalls her saying.

Even when bin Laden told them he was "subject at any moment to death," Amal al-Sada cut him short. "I've made my decision," she said.

Amal al-Sada was shot in the leg as she rushed the Navy SEALs, according to U.S. officials. She is now in Pakistani custody, along with her daughter and two other bin Laden wives, according to Pakistani officials.

Cost of fame

Amal al-Sada always told her friends that she wanted to "go down in history," recalled her cousin.

- The door for fame opened in 1999 when her older sister's husband arrived at her uncle's home with a proposal. A Saudi named Osama bin Laden was looking for a bride.

Two killed in Yemen protests

Yemeni police trying to disperse thousands of anti-government protesters in two cities killed two and wounded at least 47 Thursday, some by gunfire, according to witnesses. In one of the cities, protesters overran a government building. Gunmen fired at protesters in the central city of Bayda from the roof of a building belonging to the ruling party, killing two people and injuring seven, activist Ghazi al-Amiri said. Later, protesters set fire to the building.

French court sets designer's trial date

John Galliano, ex-creative director of Dior, has said he is 'seeking help'

Former Dior designer John Galliano will go on trial June 22 on charges that he made racist insults, accusations that rocked the fashion world and cost him his coveted job.

Galliano's downfall began in February, when he was detained in a drunken state and questioned about accusations that he hurled anti-Semitic insults at a couple in a Parisian café. The couple filed a legal complaint, and another woman made a similar accusation.

The Paris court announced the trial date Thursday. Prosecutors have said Galliano could face up to six months in prison and approximately $31,000 in fines if convicted of "public insults based on origin, religious affiliation, race or ethnicity." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Insult to injury

Soon after the initial allegations against John Galliano, a video circulated online in which the designer praised Adolf Hitler.

Leader tries to soothe public anger

RONALD KABUUBI/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ Supporters of Uganda's opposition leader, Kiiza Besigye, ride a motorbike home to Kampala from Entebbe Thursday, after Besigye was blocked from returning to Uganda.

Ugandan forces have shot, killed 9 during crackdowns on protests: Human Rights Watch Country's president has been in power for 26 years

President Yoweri Museveni derided Uganda's political opposition as divisive opportunists during his inauguration for a fourth elected term Thursday while also trying to soothe public anger over rising food and fuel prices that have triggered violent protests.

As Museveni was being sworn in, police sprayed tear gas at rock-throwing opposition supporters who massed on a major highway to welcome back Kizza Besigye, Uganda's leading opposition politician.

Thousands lined the road to welcome Besigye, who was returning from Kenya where he had received medical treatment after a brutal arrest by security forces last month. The Ugandan police had fired tear gas at Besigye at point-blank range.

Recognizing the discontent over rising food and fuel prices, Museveni said in his inauguration speech that Uganda is looking to buy fuel in bulk and the country would begin pumping its own oil within three years. "On the issue of food, predictions are showing that this is a temporary problem," Museveni said.

"We are likely to have a bumper harvest. The prices will normalize. In the short run we are going to encourage micro-irrigation based on individual farms."

Another redesign for WTC skyscraper

Prismatic glass facade scrapped for first 20 storeys of the World Trade Center tower due to breakage

The owners of the World Trade Center have nixed plans to cover the first 20 storeys of its signature skyscraper with decorative glass after it broke in testing.

The glass was expected to help 1 World Trade Center look more open at its windowless base after it was redesigned to become strong enough to withstand a truck bomb.

The Port Authority of New York and New Jersey had spent about $6 million US on the custom-made prismatic glass panels for the 540-metre skyscraper, which is slated to be the tallest in New York City when it is completed in late 2013.

But the glass bowed and broke during off-site testing and the agency decided to replace it in late March.

The change will not affect the project's budget or schedule.

But it scraps a design created to allay concerns that the windowless base of the redesigned tower would look more like a bunker than an inviting office building.

The New York Police Department had raised security concerns about the original design for the building, previously dubbed the Freedom Tower, moving the building site several feet away from the street to make it more difficult for vehicles to approach it.

Rebuilding

- The 56-metre concrete base was added to the design in 2005 by architect David Childs.
- Childs proposed the installation of the 2,000 prismatic glass panels.
- At the site, the steel frame is in place for 66 of an eventual 104 storeys. The remainder of the building will also be covered in glass, some of which has been installed.
- Another tower is under construction at the site, along with the Sept. 11 memorial and a transit hub. The memorial is scheduled to open on the 10th anniversary of the attacks this fall.

Mississippi River flows over levee, crops destroyed

About 600 homes in poverty-stricken Mississippi Delta flooded High-water records being broken

Water from the swollen Mississippi River poured over a century-old levee Thursday, flooding 12,000 acres of corn and soybeans despite farmers' frantic efforts to shore up the structure.

Downstream, officials with the Port of New Orleans said the coast guard could close the river as early as Monday, halting traffic on one of the world's busiest commercial waterways.

After swamping low-lying neighbourhoods in Memphis, Tenn., earlier this week, the rising water is bringing misery to farms and small waterfront communities in Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas.

The Corps of Engineers is considering whether to open the Morganza spillway, which would flood thousands of homes and acres of farmland along a 160-kilometre stretch in Louisiana, but take the pressure off levees and help to protect Baton Rouge, New Orleans and the oil refineries in between.

A decision is expected in the next several days.

Newspaper apologizes for photo cuts

Paper says editor had not read fine print that forbade changes Removed women from White House photo

A Brooklyn, N.Y.-based Hasidic newspaper has apologized for digitally removing Hillary Clinton and another female from its published photograph of the White House situation room during the hunt for Osama bin Laden.

A statement issued by Der Zeitung, a weekly newspaper aimed at ultra-Orthodox Jews, explains that religious beliefs prevent the publication of photos of women.

"Because of laws of modesty, we are not allowed to publish pictures of women, and we regret if this gives an impression of disparaging to women, which is certainly never our intention," reads the statement. "We apologize if this was seen as offensive."

The newspaper says its photo editor did not realize he was violating White House conditions that prevent the altering of any official photographs when he digitally removed the women before publication last Friday.

Two men charged in alleged N.Y. terror plot

Two U.S. residents, including one who complained that the world was treating Muslims "like dogs," bought guns and a grenade and wanted to carry out a terror plot against a New York synagogue, officials said Thursday. One of the alleged homegrown terrorists also expressed interest in bombing the Empire State Building, police commissioner Raymond Kelly said.

But there was no indication that the plot orchestrated as part of a sting operation ever put New Yorkers in danger and no evidence that the men were affiliated with any terrorist organization. The two men bought several weapons and an inert hand grenade from an undercover officer, city officials said in announcing the arrests.

How bin Laden beat his lack of Internet

He waged worldwide terror war with flash drives, trusted couriers

Osama bin Laden was a prolific email writer despite having no Internet access in his hideout, it emerged Thursday.

He built a painstaking system that kept him one step ahead of U.S. eavesdroppers.

Holed up in his walled compound in northeast Pakistan with no phone or Internet capabilities, bin Laden would type a message on his computer without an Internet connection, then save it using a thumb-sized flash drive.

He then passed the flash drive to a trusted courier, who would head for a distant Internet cafe.

At that location, the courier would plug the memory drive into a computer, copy bin Laden's message into an email and send it.

Reversing the process, the courier would copy any incoming email to the flash drive and return to the compound, where bin Laden would read his messages offline.

A Navy SEALs assault team hauled away roughly 100 flash memory drives after they killed bin Laden this month.

Bin Laden's methods were described by a counterterrorism official and a second person briefed on the U.S. investigation.

Torture didn't trap bin Laden: McCain

Waterboarding and other harsh interrogation techniques were not a factor in tracking down Osama bin Laden, a leading U.S. Republican senator said Thursday.

Senator John McCain, who spent five years as a prisoner of war in North Vietnam, rejected the argument that torture is critical to success in the terrorism fight.

He told the U.S. Senate that former attorney general Michael Mukasey and others who back those tactics were wrong to claim waterboarding al-Qaida leader, Khalid Sheikh Mohammed, provided information that led to bin Laden's compound in Pakistan.

Chinese gymnast files $1.8B lawsuit

Reactions among Chinese media and fans have been sharply divided Lawsuit filed in Manhattan court

NG HAN GUAN/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thirteen years after a training accident left her paralyzed and ended her career as a world-class gymnast, China's Sang Lan has filed a lawsuit in the United States, one that threatens to tarnish her carefully maintained reputation for resilience at home.

The $1.8-billion US suit targets everyone — from Ted Turner, who founded the Goodwill Games where the accident happened in 1998 in New York, to the former AOL Time Warner Inc. media company, which owned the games, to USA Gymnastics, which supported the event, to the couple who were her guardians in New York. It says they broke promises to care for Sang, then 17 and paralyzed from the chest down ever since.

The suit is an unexpected turn for Sang, whose sweet smile and upbeat nature earned her many supporters in China and who became a symbol of determination and courage in the face of a devastating injury. Returning home in 1999, she received a hero's welcome, with officials calling her "the pride of all Chinese." Since then, she has used her fame to advocate for the disabled.

Sang says her public image and the lawsuit are separate affairs, and she thinks it's more important to set the record straight about the circumstances surrounding her fall.

Toyota's bumpy road to recovery

Toyota should have owned North American roads this summer. When gas prices go up, drivers go for smaller, fuel-efficient cars. The last time prices spiked in 2008, Toyota captured the title of world's No. 1 automaker and has held it ever since.

Now gas in some parts of Canada has hit $1.50 per litre, but Toyota is struggling, hammered by supply disruptions in the wake of the Japan earthquake and still bearing the stigma of its safety recalls last year.

Meanwhile, Ford, Nissan, Kia and Hyundai have all introduced sexier, more chiselled designs with high fuel economy. General Motors and Chrysler are gaining market share, too.

For decades, Toyota's strength was high quality, fuel economy and reliability. But, by its own admission, Toyota lost sight of quality in its pursuit of global sales. Analysts expect GM to retake the world sales title this year.

John Murphy, an auto analyst for Merrill Lynch, estimated Toyota will recover only some of its lost market share, probably rising to a little more than 15 per cent, by 2014.

"They lost their way," said Aaron Bragman, an analyst with IHS Automotive. "They wanted to be GM. But they lost what made them a valued brand and a valued company."

▶ Tony Clement wants fuel producers to tell him why the price of gas is so high. But when asked whether Ottawa might impose an excess-profits tax on the oil industry, as Britain's Conservative government did this year, he said higher taxes are not the answer.

'Explain yourself': Minister to gas execs

Meetings in the works to find out why it costs so much to fill up

Industry Minister Tony Clement is rolling out the welcome mat for gasoline refiners, distributors and retailers to explain why Canadians are getting such a hosing at the pumps.

As gasoline prices dipped Thursday, reversing spikes earlier in the week, Clement said he planned to invite fuel producers to appear before a parliamentary committee to explain their pricing methods.

"No one can understand why last year, when oil per barrel was around $140 or $150, we were paying $1.37 per litre, when this year oil is south of $98 a barrel and yet we're paying more," he said.

However, Clement did not commit to a date for the meetings. And it's uncertain how far Ottawa will go to deal with high gas prices.

Former Liberal MP and gas price watcher Dan McTeague said a parliamentary committee is probably a waste of time. He said the government would be better off giving tax rebates as federal revenues rise on the back of gas price hikes.

Writers win suit

Work was posted online without permission or compensation

A $7.9-million settlement has won court approval in a class-action lawsuit by freelance writers against some of Canada's biggest publishers.

The case alleged that outlets including Toronto Star Newspapers Ltd. and Rogers Publishing Limited infringed on the copyright of freelance writers by posting their work online without their permission.

"This is a tremendous result for Canadian freelance writers."
KIRK BAERT, LEAD PLAINTIFF LAWYER, KOSKIE MINSKY

The writers did not have contracts or written agreements that permitted the electronic publishing of their works. They will now receive compensation for their work.

Jonathan Bida, a lawyer at Koskie Minsky, who argued on behalf of the plaintiffs, said the lawsuit has served largely to remedy the online copyright issue for freelancers.

"We know that a number of the publishers have started having freelance authors sign what they call freelance agreements," he said. "The freelance agreements usually deal with electronic rights as well."

Put on a happy face

Marc Bertrand, chief executive of Montreal-based toymaker Mega Brands, urged investors not to lose confidence in the company's recovery even amid allegations of insider trading against him and his brother Vic Bertrand. Mega Brands shares fell Thursday, despite improved first-quarter results, a day after securities regulators in Quebec made the insider trading allegations. But its toy sales were up by 17 per cent, and international sales grew 23 per cent in the quarter. "We are on track for higher sales and profitability this year," Bertrand said.

Cineplex bombs at the box office

25 The top performer so far this year was The King's Speech, which represented seven per cent of overall box office sales, compared to 25 per cent represented by Avatar in the same period last year.

A slate of lacklustre films left Cineplex Inc. with a loss of $848,000 in the first quarter as fewer Canadians went to their local cinemas, affecting the sales of tickets and food items.

The Toronto-based movie exhibitor saw a mixed bag of results across its operations, as revenues in its advertising operations soared, but were outshone by the void left by blockbuster Avatar.

Without a major hit in the first three months of the year, attendance at Cineplex dropped 14.6 per cent, pulling down revenue by 13.3 per cent to $221.4 million. THE CANADIAN PRESS

The world could consume an estimated 140 billion tons of minerals, ores, fossil fuels and wood-based fuels annually by 2050 — three times its current appetite, a new United Nations report warned Thursday

The report said the world is already running out of cheap and high-quality sources of essential materials such as oil, copper and gold, which require ever-rising volumes of fossil fuels and fresh water to produce.

The overall demand may triple, the UN report said, because of population growth, high levels of consumption in industrialized countries and increased demand for material goods.

The UN Environment Program said citizens in richer developed countries consume an average of 16 tons of those four key resources per capita, and as much as 40 or more tons.

By comparison, it said, the average person in India today consumes four tons per year.

The report said ways must be found to do more with less.

U.S. cops 'like' stupid criminals

Authorities say four people were indicted in a Houston bank robbery after bragging about it on Facebook.

Federal prosecutors say two former tellers at the International Bank of Commerce recruited a boyfriend and a brother to steal more than $62,000 on March 23.

Prosecutors say former tellers Estefany Danelia Martinez, 18, and Anna Margarita Rivera, 19, Martinez's boyfriend, Ricky Gonzalez, 19, and Rivera's brother, Arturo Solano, 22, were indicted Wednesday on charges of bank robbery and embezzlement.

Authorities say an anonymous tip led investigators to Facebook posts. In one, Martinez wrote, "IM RICH." Another post said: "WIPE MY TEETH WITH HUNDEREDS."

Gonzalez's attorney, Lance Hamm, said his client is "extremely remorseful for what he's accused of doing." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bridesmaids take the cake

Richard Crouse and Mark Breslin debate the merits of Bridesmaids
Wiig pushes herself to a new level in one the best female comedies ever

Richard Crouse: Mark, the big mistake people will make about Bridesmaids is thinking that it is a chick flick or a female version of The Hangover. In fact, I think it takes the best elements of those two and cleverly mixes them into one very funny but still very heartfelt movie that should have been called Bridesmaid on the Verge of a Nervous Breakdown. Do you agree with me that this is the funniest female comedy that Tina Fey didn't write?

Mark Breslin: I've been raving for years that Kristin Wiig is the Carol Burnett of our times: the greatest female sketch comic working today. Now, with this movie, she surpasses even that. I was worried that the movie would just substitute girl gross-outs for boy gross-outs, but there's a depth here that the trailer doesn't hint at. The humour is based on some pretty dark topics: fear of failure, loneliness, body image issues, so bravo to Wiig and her cast for going there. But most importantly, Wiig has wrested the wedding comedy from the hands of Kate Hudson.

RC: Hallelujah! Wiig is the best thing to happen to SNL in years but her big screen output has been somewhat underwhelming. Her movies like MacGruber always felt to me like she was acting in a long form sketch. She's always funny, but I never felt like there was a real depth of character there until now. Her work as the neurotic but mostly well meaning Annie is a breakthrough, proving that being funny and having feelings are not mutually exclusive.

MB: Well put, Richard. But before we turn off any potential moviegoer thinking they're about to watch a Sundance comedy, let's remember that there are two hysterical, verrrrry broad set pieces in the middle of the movie that will satisfy anyone – male or female looking for belly laughs. The only thing in the movie that didn't work for me were the British roommates, which felt forced, unlike her romance with the patrolman, which felt real and blithe. He's a standout in a large cast. Anybody in it catch your eye?

RC: Absolutely. Chris O'Dowd as the lovelorn cop brings a huge amount of charm to the movie and Rose Byrne, who I'm used to seeing in dramas, is very funny.

MB: Let's not forget Melissa McCarthy who gets huge laughs, even if some of them are on the cheap side. And Jill Clayburgh in her last role. R.I.P.

Depp can't shake being Capt. Jack

Pirates of the Caribbean star was excited to get another chance to work with actress Penelope Cruz

NED EHRBAR
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN HOLLYWOOD

▶ Johnny Depp and Penelope Cruz star in Pirates of the Caribbean: On Stranger Tides.

Much earlier in his career, Johnny Depp claimed none of his films would ever make any money. But with Pirates of the Caribbean: On Stranger Tides, the fourth installment in the hugely successful franchise set to be released, he was clearly mistaken.

"It's not my fault. I did my best, even to the point of trying to get fired on the first one, and they just couldn't bring themselves to do it," Depp says of his good fortune. "It's kind of interesting to experience that kind of ride after essentially 20 years of enjoying a career based on failures. And then suddenly something clicks. The fact that people decided to go see a movie that I was in was probably the most shocking thing that I've ever been through."

Also shocking to Depp is how much Capt. Jack Sparrow, the beloved scoundrel he plays in the Pirates films, has seeped into his subconscious.

"There's most definitely a part of me in Capt. Jack, and now — fortunately or unfortunately — there's a great part of Capt. Jack in me as well," he says.

Given that Capt. Jack has led the franchise to bring in a whopping $2.6 billion US at the box office over the course of the three films, chances are Depp will have to put up with his swashbuckling alter ego for some years to come. And that's something he's certainly prepared for.

"I think they could wheel me in, I could have my dreads get tangled in the wheels of my chair," he jokes. "A character like Capt. Jack, I feel like you could just continue. The possibilities are endless, limitless."

Of course, more Pirates movies means more pirates, and On Stranger Tides introduces a new element in Sparrow's life: ex-lover and fierce sword-fighting opponent Angelica, played by Penelope Cruz.

"When we saw each other again, it felt like we'd wrapped the film Blow the week before," Depp says of working with the Spanish star. "It just sort of clicked instantly so that whatever exists in terms of chemistry was just instantly firing on all cylinders. It felt completely right."

Working with Cruz again also gave Depp the chance to enhance his vocabulary. "She taught me the raunchiest Spanish. It's so foul, I couldn't bring myself to repeat it," he says. "I'll carry it on my back for the rest of my days."

Cruz's favourite part of the production — aside from Spanish lessons with Depp — were the lavish locations, with filming taking place in Hawaii and Puerto Rico. "And then they built a beach in Universal Studios," she remembers. "When they told me, I thought it was my English, that I didn't understand what they said, and then I got there and there was really a beach in Universal Studios."

Worthington plays the bad husband

- Avatar star is no hero in his newest movie Last Night
- Film explores how fragile relationships can be

Australian actor Sam Worthington moves from hero in Avatar to heel in Massy Tadjedin's Last Night, a searing drama about unravelling relationships and infidelity.

Over the course of a few hours, four people make decisions that cause each other great pain. Worthington plays Michael Reed appears to be in a solid marriage with Joanna Reid (Keira Knightley), so his sexual encounter with a determined third party comes as a shock.

"You can be in a relationship and look at someone else and wonder if they're boring or wonder what would happen when they go down that path", Worthington said. "This is the bit where they put their foot to the throttle."

"When the carrot's in front of him, he takes it."
SAM WORTHINGTON

But it takes more than curiosity for him to go down that road.

"The first thing he's does when he gets home is he starts watching sports while his wife is making herself beautiful," he says. "He doesn't notice her until four scenes in. To me that sums up his relationship."

Worthington acknowledges that the audience may not find too much to like about Michael.

"My character is the least sympathetic. I wanted to be less sympathetic than I was in the film. He's a complacent husband who is weak," he said. "When the carrot's dangled in front of him, he takes it. To me out of all four characters, he is the least sympathetic. I didn't really dig any of the four of them."

The carrot in this case is Laura (Eva Mendes) a work colleague, whom Micheal takes a business trip with.

Cotillard borrows from herself

Academy Award winning actress got into her Little White Lies role by taping into her own personality

ANNE BRODIE
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Academy award winning French actress Marion Cotillard stars with writer and director Guillaume Canet in Little White Lies, in a part that Canet wrote especially for her.

Cotillard used that knowledge to play Marie, a woman who joins friends on a beach vacation, even as one of them is seriously injured in an accident en route to the gathering. Cotillard decided to call up a character she had never used before — herself.

"I thought that the best way would be to not create a special voice or behaviour, to use myself," Cotillard said. "But it was kind of weird when I saw "her" for the first time. There were things that were so me. The way that she moves, even when she takes a glass of wine or something, you don't really see yourself doing things of course, but you feel it".

Cotillard's sense of self was on high alert.

"You see yourself doing these things on screen, and it's another character but you feel that these things belong to you. And it's very disturbing," she said. "I find it easier to play someone who is so far from you, because you create someone, you build this person and there's no confusion between you and this, because it's really not you."

Meet Monica Velour
Genre: Comedy/Drama
Director: Keith Beardon
Stars: Kim Cattrall, Dustin Ingram, Brian Dennehy

Monica Velour could do for Kim Cattrall what The Burning Bed did for Farrah Fawcett — put to rest the notion that an ageing Hollywood sex hellion is good for nothing. Cattrall is Monica/Linda, an '80s porn star now a struggling single mother living in a trailer park, pursued by a naïve 17-year-old obsessed with her fantasy image. He sets out on a quest for her, but finds a bitter, angry and fragile woman who bristles at his attentions. He falls for her anyway in this warm hearted, quirky and offbeat outing. Cattrall imbues Monica with vulnerability, emotional richness and a naked need for dignity.

Meek's Cutoff
Genre: Drama
Director: Kelly Reichardt
Stars: Michelle Williams, Bruce Greenwood

Despite not being a household name, Kelly Reichardt is an excellent choice for the New Auteurs series at TIFF Bell Lightbox: her four features evince a subtle, precise artistic sensibility. Meek's Cutoff, a fact-based account of a misbegotten wagon train in 19th century Oregon, is her best work to date — a totally convincing period piece that's also a piercing and provocative contemporary political metaphor.

The Strange Case of Angelica
Genre: Foreign language
Director: Manoel de Oliveira
Stars: Ricardo Trepa, Pilar Lopez de Ayala

There's a temptation to see every new film by the 102-year-old Portuguese director Manoel de Oliveira as a valedictory work, but The Strange Case of Angelica really does feel like an artist having a reckoning with his chosen medium. This is a story of a young photographer (Ricardo Trepa) who becomes smitten with the exquisite corpse he's assigned to immortalize on film — and who then comes alive within the space of his camera's aperture — and is a plangent, enchanted metaphor for the love of cinema.

Beat The World
Genre: Dance
Director: Robert Adetuyi
Stars: Tyrone Brown, Mishael Morgan, Shane Pollard

Somehow dance movies have inexplicably become a sustainable and successful genre over the last decade despite being universally awful. This year's entry is Beat The World, which pits the standard batch of poor inner-city youths with dancing dreams (this time from Windsor, Ont.) against an evil collection of champion dancers (this time from Germany). There's also a third storyline involving a team from Brazil with a lead actor so bad that his story was practically cut out of the movie despite having the most exciting plot. With that storyline barely in the film, it's just a cut and paste good vs. evil battle. No points for guessing who wins, but big points awarded for actually sitting through this thing without vomiting.

PHIL BROWN

Potiche
Genre: Foreign language
Director: Francois Ozon
Stars: Catherine Deneuve, Gerard Depardieu

A charming comedy about an aged "trophy wife" (Catherine Deneuve) who shows unexpected moxie in taking over her husband's embattled factory, Potiche showcases French director Francois Ozon at his most playfully retro.The film's '70s inflections extend from the production design and score to the theme of nascent female empowerment; Deneuve seems to be having a ball playing an unlikely gender crusader.

Starving, lost at sea, attacked by sharks, still . . .

UNBROKEN, the #1 New York Times bestseller.

His name was Louis Zamperini. In boyhood he was an incorrigible delinquent. As a teenager he channeled that defiance into running and raced at the Berlin Olympics. Then the war came. The athlete become an airman on a doomed flight, lost at sea and captured by the enemy. But through it all, he remained UNBROKEN. This is a true story of survival, resilience, and redemption.

"Do yourself…a favour and buy the book." Vanity Fair

Hailed by TIME magazine as the Best Non-fiction Book of the Year!

1. Why music?

HANDOUT

Everyone has different ways they cope with certain periods in their lives, and ours happens to be music.

HANDOUT

Expressing myself has always been important for me. I was born with music in my veins.

Music is a healthy way to express my emotions.

HANDOUT

When I pick up a guitar, no matter how I feel, I feel better (as cheesy as that sounds).

2. Who do you listen to on your own time?	3. How do you feel when you're on stage?	4. Describe your sound in one word.	5. Are you a role model for other teen girls? And what does that mean to you.	6. Describe yourself in five years.	7. If you could have dinner with one musician, dead or alive, who would that be?
Paramore, Tegan and Sara, City and Colour, All Time Low and Coldplay.	It's my favourite aspect of the whole "Rock Star Life." I get such a rush from knowing that the whole crowd is there to support us.	Edgy.	I hope other teen girls look up to us. It's an incredible feeling because you are representing them in a way. But it's also a huge responsibility.	I hope to still be involved with music in any way possible. Whether it's playing in a band, or solo.	Dallas Green.
Tegan and Sara, Paramore, Metric, Arcade Fire and Ellie Goulding.	Being on stage is one of the best places for me to be. I feel amazing while up on stage.	Punky.	I'm not sure, but I hope I am. I want other girls to be inspired by what we're doing, and dream super big.	Hopefully playing shows for lots of people, developing a solid fan base and writing songs!	I think I'd have to say John Lennon. He's so fascinating.
The Who, Billie Holiday, Aerosmith, Pavarotti, Rolling Stones.	I feel amazing. I love the spotlight and I feel really appreciated and free when I know I have the attention.	Pop-rock.	I hope to be. There are no female rock role models in this day and age for girls to look up to. I hope we can inspire young girls.	Having fun, learning and going to university.	Frank Sinatra.
B.B. King, AC/DC, Rush.	I feel incredible. It's a rush of excitement that is fuelled by the crowd. It's kind of hard to describe.	Different.	I hope we are role models because I think it is important for anyone to have someone to look up to.	I hope to still be playing music. But I have no idea.	Angus Young, the lead guitarist of AC/DC.

'Real deal'

"Done With Dolls are the real deal. The reason we got involved with them in the first place is because they can all play their instruments, sing and write. If they keep working hard who knows how good they can get in five years. ... And they'll still only be 19."
RAINE MAIDA

GETTY IMAGES

Raine Maida

We asked DWD's producer Raine Maida for his take on the band.

You have the opportunity to produce any number of fresh young bands. Why Done with Dolls?

We work with a lot of developing artists. However Done With Dolls are by far the youngest. The most interesting thing about Done With Dolls is their passion for being a "band" in a day and age where "real" rock bands, especially all-girl rock bands, are rare.

How would you describe their sound?

Constantly evolving. Their influences range from alt rock bands such as Tegan and Sara and Arcade Fire, to classic rock acts like Led Zeppelin and Blondie.

▶ Lindsay Lohan

After pleading no contest to her misdemeanor theft charge, Lindsay Lohan is eager to put the entire incident behind her as she serves out her jail sentence at home.

"I am glad to be able to put this past me and move on with my life and my career. I support the judge's decision and hold myself accountable for being in this situation," Lohan says in a statement to TMZ.

Meanwhile, her probation report, which was released after the no-contest plea was entered, divulged that Lohan had been drinking alcohol on the night she snuck out of the Betty Ford Center and had an altercation with an employee of the facility.

"The probation officer believes that substance abuse is the root of the defendant's problems," the report states, according to People magazine. METRO

Will Smith's mega-trailer had to go

Will Smith's tricked-out trailer was sent packing Wednesday after complaints from residents in the Manhattan neighbourhood where his new film, Men in Black III, is being shot.

The double-decker digs were larger than many Manhattan residences and had locals up in arms about its size, noise and fumes. The $2 million trailer is 53 feet long and weighs 30 tons and includes a bar and lounge, screening room, and a granite bathroom. Wednesday afternoon, the trailer was removed by Columbia Pictures. Hat that turned heads is for sale

Princess Beatrice is reportedly making the most of the infamy earned by the odd hat she wore to last month's Royal Wedding, as she's now auctioning the item off for charity.

"She's putting it up on eBay to auction it for UNICEF and for Children in Crisis," Beatrice's mother, Sarah Ferguson, tells Oprah Winfrey.

As for the Princess herself, she's pleased with the reactions her fashion choice received. "I think it's wonderful that it's had a reaction, it is just a hat after all, and now it has got its own Facebook page and so many fans," she tells Grazia magazine.

"It's an incredible response to that hat, really. I'm glad it provoked so much conversation." METRO

Sweet treats... minus the flour

Recognize Celiac Disease Awareness Month with these recipes from Phil Vickery's Gluten-Free Baking The book has more than 70 such recipes

BOTH: TARA FISHER; USED WITH PERMISSION FROM GLUTEN-FREE BAKING BY PHIL VICKERY (FIREFLY BOOKS, 2011)

Traditionally made with flour, these pancakes and muffins are made without it for a new take.

In his book Gluten-Free Baking (Firefly Books, 2011), Phil Vickery brings baked goods back into the lives of those with celiac disease or any form of gluten intolerance.

Buttermilk Pancakes

Preparation:

1. Pancakes: Place rice flour, baking powder and salt in bowl. Place egg, sunflower oil, melted butter, and buttermilk in another bowl and whisk well. Gradually, add wet mixture to dry ingredients, stirring well between each addition.
2. Heat nonstick skillet over medium heat and add olive oil.
3. Spoon in tablespoons of batter to make 4 at a time. Cook 2-3 minutes on one side, flip and cook other side until golden-brown. Repeat until all batter is used. Stack pancakes on plate; cover with clean kitchen towel to keep warm.

Ingredients:

- 1 scant cup (4 oz) fine rice flour
- ½ tea spoon baking powder
- pinch of salt
- 1 large egg, at room temperature
- 1 ½ tablespoon sunflower oil
- 4 tablespoons (2 oz) unsalted butter, melted
- 1 ¼ cups (10 fl oz) buttermilk
- 3 tablespoons olive oil

Caramel Chocolate Fudge Brownie Muffins

Preparation:

1. Preheat the oven to 350 F (180 C). Place 12 muffin liners in muffin pan.
2. Place flours, sugars, cocoa, and baking powder in a bowl and mix well. Place egg, vanilla extract, and half dulce de leche in separate bowl, and mix well.
3. Add egg mix to flour and sugar, and combine. Add chocolate and rest of dulce de leche; carefully "chop" through the mix with spoon, leaving roughly it combined. Spoon into muffin liners, and bake 18- 20 minutes.
4. Remove when well risen and slightly underbaked. Cool slightly on wire rack. Eat warm or cold. GLUTEN-FREE BAKING BY PHIL VICKERY (FIREFLY BOOKS, 2011)

The perfect companion for Thai night

PETER ROCKWELL
LIQUIDASSETS@EASTLINK.CA
TWITTER: @THEREALWINEGUY

When it comes to take-out, I love Thai. While the light, fresh personality of Thailand's cuisine makes my mouth water, it's the underlying spiciness that really turns my corkscrew.

The sweet, sour and citrusy elements make choosing a beverage to wash down your Pad Thai about as easy as sitting through an episode of Glee.

One golden rule of food and wine pairing is: When in doubt pick juice made in the same country as your meal.

Thailand's not much of a wine producer, so a glass of lager beer is the perfect partner. That said, an aromatic and peppery white like one made with the gewürztraminer grape is also a natural pick.

Produced in Germany, the 2009 Badischer Winzerkeller Gewürztraminer ($10.76 - $13.29) is a thirst quencher with flowery aromas and off-dry, baked pear and lychee fruit flavours supported by a backbone of white pepper. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS CANADA. Have you seen ads like this? "MONEY PROBLEMS?" "CREDIT PROBLEMS? Pay NO interest" "Reduce your debt by up to 80%"

Do they sound too good to be true? That's because they are only telling you HALF OF THE STORY! The procedure you are being sold is called a consumer proposal and may ONLY be administered by a licenced trustee in bankruptcy. After you pay these "consultants" a fee – hundreds, sometimes thousands of dollars – they refer you to a trustee to actually do the work (their ads don't tell you that).

There's no mystery, there's no clever deals or negotiation going on. These guys never actually speak to your creditors. So why are you paying them a fee?

Still not convinced? Their first meeting is free – before you go back a second time and start paying their fees give us a call. We'll walk you through all of your options and then you can decide what's best for you and your family.

One more thing – there are NO upfront fees to file a consumer proposal – if someone wants you to pay a fee BEFORE they file your paperwork then you aren't dealing with the right people!

Humans know dolphins respond to pictures and words. Now scientists want dolphins to talk back. The Wild Dolphin Project in Florida is trying to start two-way conversations by playing them dolphin-like sounds, hoping they will imitate them. Researchers say this could lead to dolphins and humans co-creating a new language.

Fair Lady comes to Shaw

This year marks the 50th anniversary of the Shaw Festival, one of North America's top and most loved theatre festivals. They've got three Shaw plays on tap (out of 11 productions in all) to celebrate — Candida, Heartbreak House and On The Rocks. They're also doing My Fair Lady for the first time, which, of course, is based on Shaw's Pygmalion.

"It's quite sexy this year," said public relations director Odette Yazbeck. "Shaw is all about sex; the sexes and the battle of the sexes ... Yes, he deals with government and poverty but nine out of 10 times if you look for the sex, it's there. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Digestive disorder sidelines Lesnar

Brock Lesnar has pulled out of his UFC 131 fight in Vancouver to deal with diverticulitis again.

The former UFC heavyweight champion was hospitalized by the digestive disorder in November 2009, but recovered and returned to mixed martial arts.

The 33-year-old fighter says his condition is not as serious as it was before. And his hope is to be able to keep fighting.

"But let me tell you, my health and my family are more important than stepping in the octagon for I don't care how much money," he said Thursday.

"One thing I have found out through all of this is that if you don't have your health and your family, you don't have diddly-squat."

Lesnar (5-2) said his choice is to undergo surgery to remove part of his colon or deal with the disorder the rest of his life.

"There's a solution to every problem," the six-foot-three 265-pounder said. "I've just got to find the right solution to fix this problem. I love this sport and I love what I do."

SHARKS	RED WINGS

Patrick Marleau got his first point of the series when he knocked home a rebound with 7:47 to play and the San Jose Sharks managed to knock out the Detroit Red Wings on their fourth try with a 3-2 victory Thursday night in Game 7 of their Western Conference semifinal series.

Devin Setoguchi and Logan Couture scored in the first period and Antti Niemi made 38 saves for the Sharks, who had lost three straight potential clinching games before eliminating the Red Wings for the second straight year in the second round.

San Jose avoided becoming the fourth NHL team to lose a series after winning the first three games. A franchise known for its playoff flops avoided a colossal one and now heads into its second straight Western Conference final. That series begins Sunday in Vancouver (CBC, 8 p.m.).

Pavel Datsyuk and Henrik Zetterberg scored for the Red Wings, who fought valiantly to the end but were unable to complete their bid for the historic feat. Detroit furiously pushed for the tying goal in the frantic final minutes, but couldn't beat Niemi again — even after getting a late power-play chance.

The much-maligned Marleau, who was called "gutless" by former teammate Jeremy Roenick after Game 5, gave the Sharks the breathing room they had been desperately seeking when he poked a rebound of Setoguchias shot into an empty net behind Jimmy Howard to give San Jose a 3-1 lead.

Tiger limps away from TPC Sawgrass

Tiger Woods struggled off the golf course Thursday and into a future that is murkier than ever when he withdrew with leg injuries after his worst nine holes at The Players Championship.

"I'm having a hard time walking," he said.

Woods shot a 42 on the front nine of the TPC Sawgrass, including a triple bogey on the fourth hole. He constantly walked some 20 yards behind his playing partner, holding his golf club for support, limping noticeably after each hole.

After taking a bogey on the par-5 ninth, he handed his scorecard to PGA champion Martin Kaymer, then walked back to inform Matt Kuchar that he was leaving early from The Players for the second straight year.

Worlds over for Canada

Canada was left bloodied, bruised and beaten during its second straight quarter-final exit at the IIHF World Hockey Championship. Alexei Kaigorodov and Ilya Kovalchuk scored 3:12 apart in the third period as Russia sent Canada packing with a comeback 2-1 victory Thursday. Canada was 6-0 before the game.

Germany is perfect place for Cup

FIELD OF PLAY

SCOTT RUSSELL
TORONTO@METRONEWS.CA

It's enlightening to be in Germany and to understand that the Canadian women's soccer team will be playing in the World Cup against a diverse and challenging backdrop in less than six weeks.

Germany is a country that lives and breathes soccer. Or, more accurately, football.

The first match takes place in Berlin at the Olympic Stadium, the same one used for the historic 1936 Games where Adolph Hitler glowered disapprovingly and was forced eventually to acknowledge the brilliance of the black American sprinter Jesse Owens.

It's an awe-inspiring venue and more than 70,000 seats have been sold to see Canada play the defending World Cup champions from Germany.

The word majestic comes to mind.

MARTIN ROSE/BONGARTS/GETTY IMAGES

▶ Canada's Emily Zurrer, right, and Germany's Inka Gring compete in a friendly in Dresden last September.

The second match is in Bochum, once a mining centre located in the industrial Ruhr region in western Germany. The community is distinctly working class and the football team dates back to 1848. The stadium is old and smallish but still able to accommodate 30,000 spectators.

The team mantra of VfL Bochum reads, "Mein revier ist heir." Translated it means, "My Place is Here." It's a dead giveaway to the status that football occupies in the consciousness of the people.

"There is no class structure here to football," one fan told me. "Only football, that's all that matters."

In Bochum, against France, a team with similar credentials, Canada will be exposed to the rabid obsession common people have with the game in this hard rock town.

Finally, the Canadians take on Nigeria in Dresden. This is a fascinating place to visit. A city of constant renaissance, Dresden was all but obliterated in February 1945 when Allied bombers let loose, killing 23,000 people in a single night and levelling 15 square kilometres of one of Germany's largest urban areas at the time.

Now, Dresden has rebuilt in the fashion of its once glorious days.

The capital of Saxony has reclaimed the wondrous opera house on the banks of the Elbe River as well as the palace of its legendary ruler Augustus the Strong.

Dresden's football team, Dynamo, a clue to its history in the former socialist German Democratic Republic, is fighting for advancement to the second division of the Bundesliga.

Here, Canada will be exposed to a truly resilient city.

The FIFA Women's World Cup is still more than one month away. But it's time for fans of football to get worked up.

That's because Canada is a player in a country where the sport means everything to the people.
